How to be a great Founder (Reid Hoffman)

* How to think about yourself as a Founder?

PERCEPTION

- ⇒ Perception of skills.
- ⇒ Great Founder is a person who deals with a ton of things.
- ⇒ Challenging set of things.
- ⇒ People would need to work on a ton of factors to improve stuff.

Q. How should I think about my founding team?

* Two or three people is a good composition as there is a large group of skills and you can compensate on a large number of problems.

* Establish great trust between your co-founders.

* Diversity of tasks is to be focused greatly.

WHERE TO LOCATE

⇒ Great people immigrate to the silicon valley to start their startups.

⇒ Great founders seek the networks where there are solutions to come of the problems.

⇒ Software startups can even be of the great places.

⇒ Location of the startup depends on the nature of the business.

SHOULD I BE A CONTRARIAN?

* It's hard to be contrarian and right.

* How does a smart person respond to your idea.

- * Contribution is relative to an audience.
- * What do I know that other people don't know.
- * Go talk to every smart person and think about feedback.
- * How is that the smart people disagree.

* Gradual compounding curve and understanding the nature of the work

When should I Do the Work versus DELEGATE

- * You need to do both and it variable.
- * You gotta be both flexible and persistent.
- * You should have a project on what you are doing.
- * Your confidence pivot can increase.
- * Hold the belief to think about the negative criticism.
- * Focus internally and externally.
- * What does the current problem look like.
- * Data is used to progress yourself to build about the perspectives.
- * Dollars and the master version of that and bring the electronics into it.

TAKE RISKS OR MINIMIZE RISKS

- ⇒ You have to be a risk and there is a need of a big opportunity
- * Focused intelligent risk, on-spot possibility.
- * Investment needs increasing or decreasing.

* The direction you are on is gonna hit on the goals.

* Jump between short term and long term.

↳ largely focused on the path.

↳ Product distribution and the more fundamental thought.

* As a core strategy focus on the long term growth.

* Learning, assembling people and understanding the basic user founders.

* Mindset of the founder is the focus of the growth.

* Breaking through the noise is really the key.

* How are you competing towards potential customers.

↳ Find out the references on them because you already knew about them.

↳ Founders that don't present good analysis and the alternatives to that specific thing.

* Go and do it.

* Push on the idea and learn and adapt to the skillsets.

* Technical founder, someone dedicated towards the business side of the startup.
