

LECTURE: #7

Date

HOW TO BUILD PRODUCTS USER LOVE

* How to create products people use professionally.

* We have to make things that are fairly easy to use.

Fanatical about creating meaningful relationships with our users.

* New users $\rightarrow$ Dating. $\Rightarrow$ FIRST IMPRESSION.

* Existing users $\Rightarrow$ marriage.

FIRST IMPRESSIONS.

* Homepage.

* Landing pages.

* Plans/pricing.

* Login.

* Sign up.

* First Email

* Account creation

* Blank/Starting Interface

* Login Link

* Ad Link

* First Support.

OPPORTUNITIES
TO GROW

* This put a smile on the person's face.

* How the site tends to interact with you.

* Look gutters that look like magazine covers.

* We changed the origin that how the people were actually interacting with your product.

LONG-TERM RELATIONSHIPS

* John Gottemoeller understands that how the relationships work in the long term.

* Everyone fights about something and here's a problem set:

Money → Cost/Billing

Kids → User's Performance

Sex → Performance

Time → Roadmap.

Others. → Others.

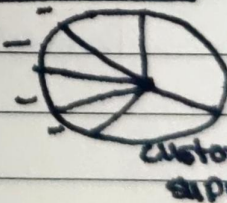

* Software engineers and designers are often divorced from the consequence of their action.

Before Launch

100%

Create solutions.

After Launch

create software

customer support

- * Responsibility.
- * Accountability.
- * Humility.
- * modesty.

Support Driven Development (SDD)

"You make everyone do the customer support".
[Creators = Supporters.]

① Support. Responsible developers and designers. Give the best support.

THE FOUR HORSE MEN

Date

① criticism.

② contempt.

③ defensiveness.

④ stone walling. $\Rightarrow$ "Something you need to work upon"

* EXPERIMENTS AROUND SUPPORT

* People started being nicer.

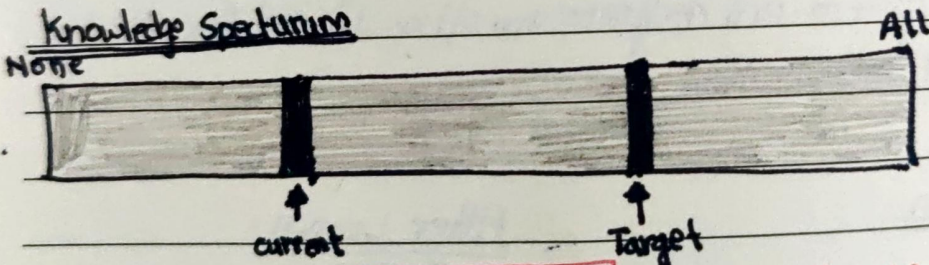

* People must have a simple outlet for solution.

DIRECT EXPOSURE

* Minimum every six weeks.

* At least two hours.

Changes the way to build the software.

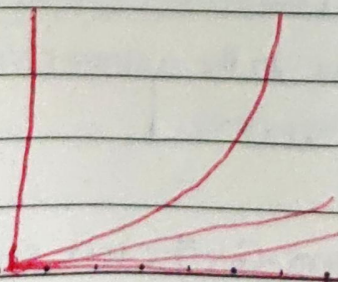

$\Rightarrow$ How intuitive your app is?

(1) New feature increase.

the knowledge gap.

(2) frequently used applications.

There is no difference between the increase and the decrease within the growth.

RELATIONSHIPS ATROPHY.

Date

- * They follow the second law of thermodynamics.
- * make sure that the you give customers the maximum support.

We made everyone say thank you.

- * Handwritten thank you cards
- * What was the mission for and why did we did.

The discipline of market leaders :-

- * There are only three ways through which you achieve market dominance and how you want to achieve it:

1) Best price

2) Best solution.

3) Best overall solution.

→ Requires the stability and product.

- * Focus on the people who are the most passionate.
- * Humour is like ^{app} difficult to do.
- * make it as easy to use.
- * Products change with the customers and have a social incentive.
- * The word of the math. growth is the easiest. ratio of the growth.
- * You cannot help but get feature requests.
- * underline those things and make the smallest version of those ideas.

King on the day.

what can be done in the 48 hours?

* An office gives you efficiency.

* In remote working we have to do help respect the time.

3 solid
days

→ You can get a lot of stuff done.

* Focus on your priorities as much as possible.

* Profit sharing.

↳ Performance and the measurement coming.

↳ How they want to be assessed.

↳ Pattern of the behaviour.

↳ Evidence that they have provided to help you better.